ITEMS OF BUSINESS

1. INTERIM CHIEF UPDATE ON ONGOING DEMONSTRATIONS

Chief's verbal

Interim Chief Steve Bell provided a brief update on the ongoing demonstrations, in which he indicated that operations to safely remove the unlawful demonstrations from Ottawa streets were underway. The OPS and their RCMP and OPP partners were committed to seeing the operation through to its end. There had been a significant increase in the number of officers on the streets, and barricades had been erected. There was limited access to the downtown core. The unlawful protestors were being told to leave, and to do so peacefully and immediately. They were also being advised that they would face consequences including arrest if they chose to stay. The Service noted that individuals that ultimately refused to leave would be removed.

A question was raised regarding the safety of schools, and overall risks to community members. The Service had a 3:30 p.m. press conference scheduled, during which they intended to go into detail with messaging and tactics for residents. The Service had been in touch with Centretown City Councillor Catherine McKenney as well as Councillor Matthew Fleury and had indicated that the safety of their residents would remain the OPS' priority. It was noted that the Councillors would be kept informed to enable communications through them to their constituents.

Board Chair El-Chantiry advised I/Chief Bell that he would remain interim chief for the time being, and that the OPS membership should be informed of the stability. Support for I/Chief Bell was expressed.

That the Ottawa Police Services Board receive this item for information.
